THE ART OF ENTERTAINING AT SEA

The elegance of design, elevated by the horizon.

MARMOREA envisions and creates exceptional living spaces where distinctive furniture meets excellence in yacht interior outfitting.

From designer furniture to marble and natural stone, we select and work with noble materials to create refined, harmonious, and timeless interiors.

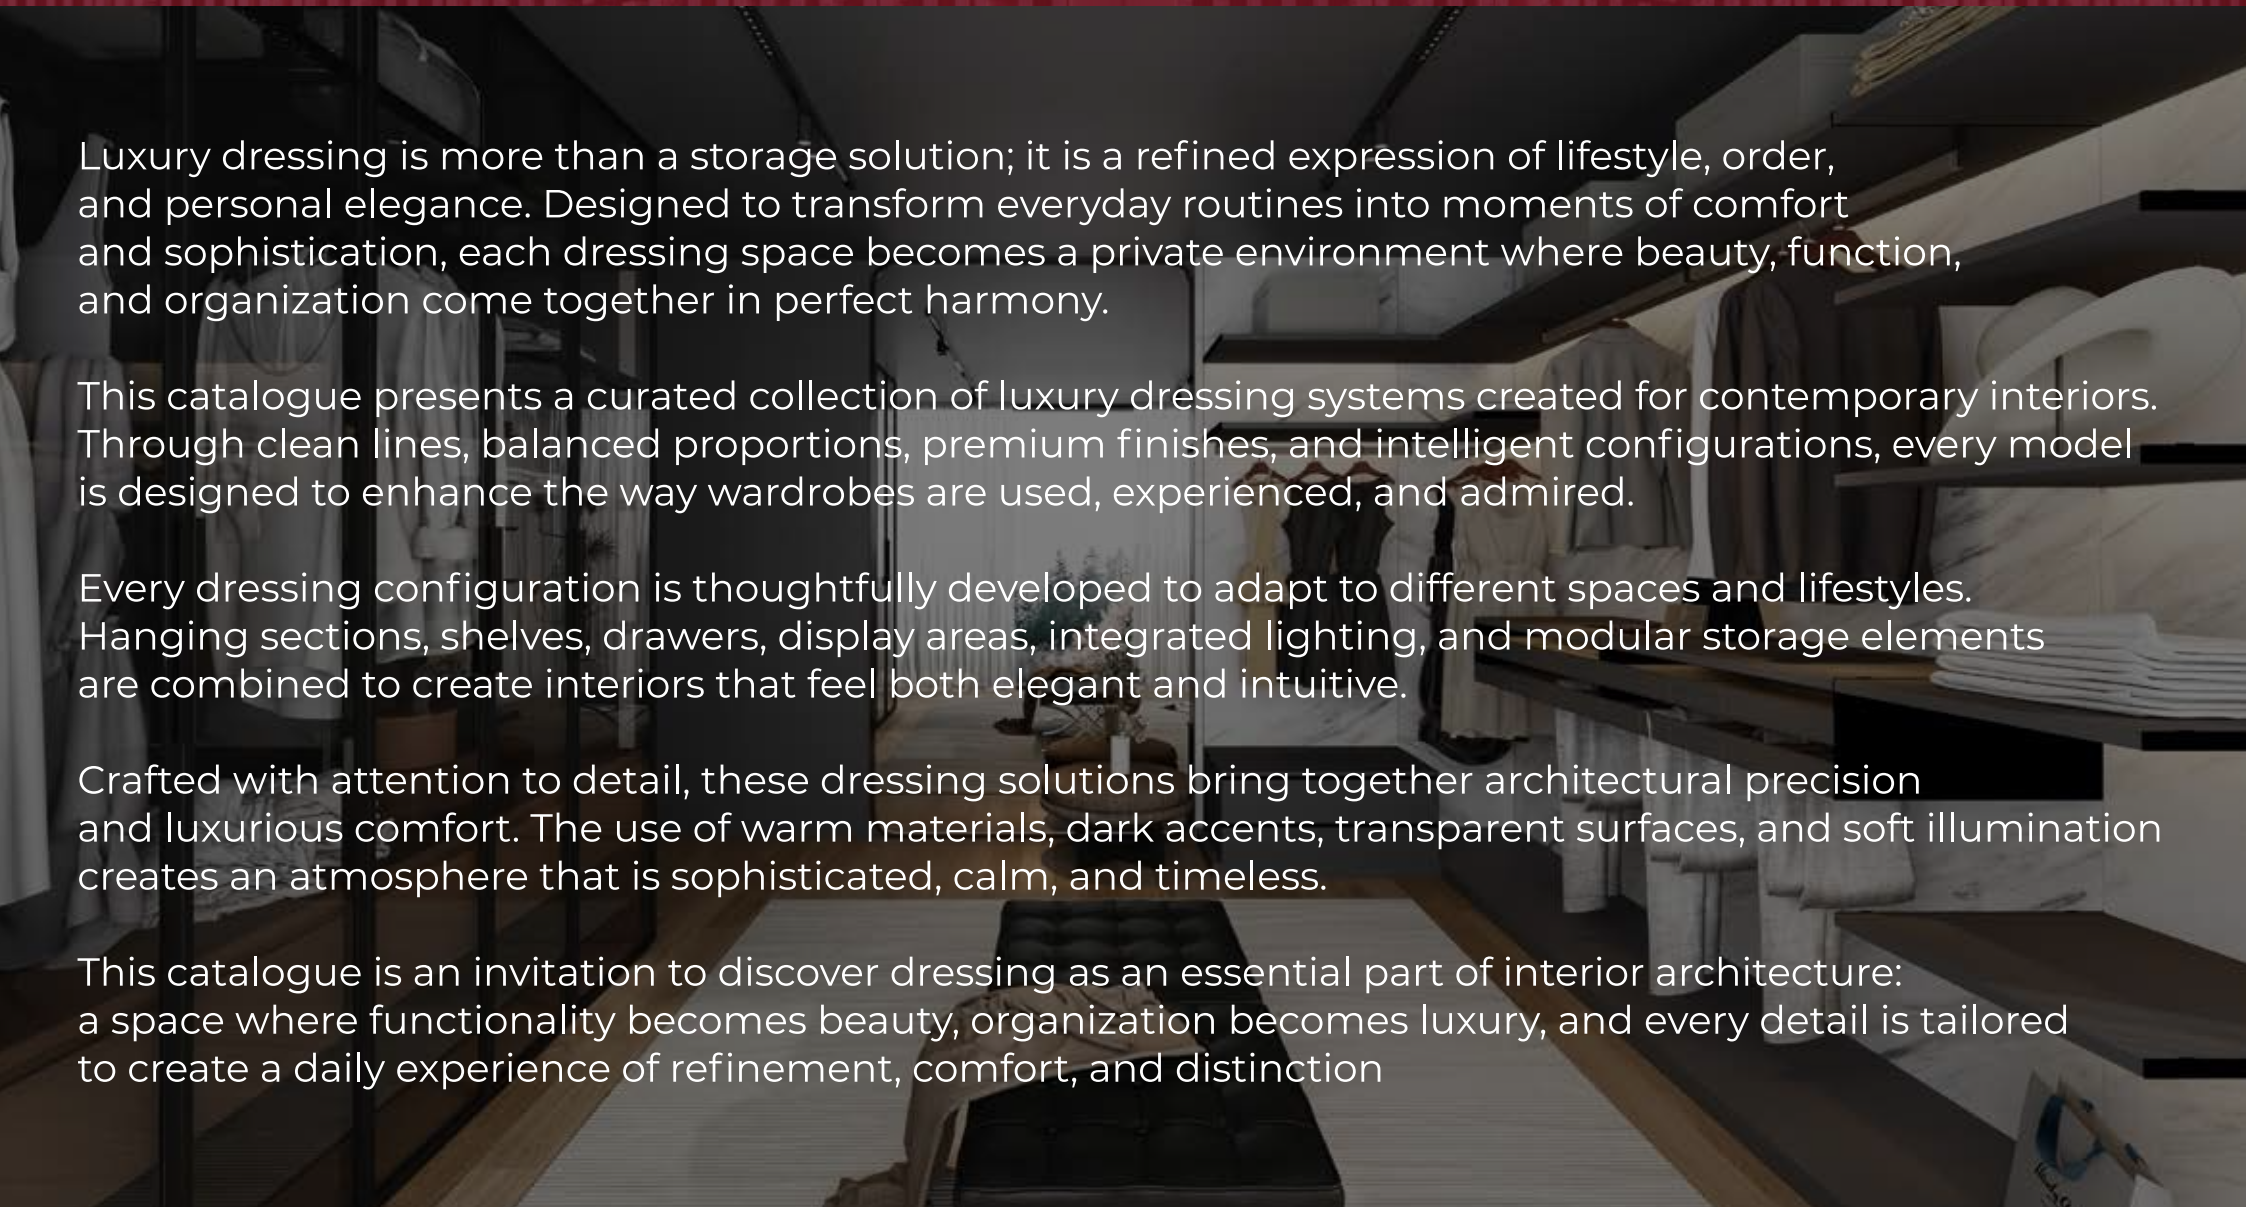
Marble, natural stone, bespoke wall coverings, and finishes: every element is carefully considered to integrate seamlessly into the world of yachting and meet the aesthetic demands of the most prestigious projects.

By combining exceptional materials, sculptural lines, and artisanal craftsmanship, MARMOREA brings unique interiors to life, where every detail reflects luxury, comfort, and precision.

From elegant reception areas to private suites, we design bespoke atmospheres that reflect the identity of each project and elevate the art of living at sea.

MARMOREA — Exceptional materials, bespoke creations, interiors beyond the horizon.

DRESSING COLLECTION



Luxury dressing is more than a storage solution; it is a refined expression of lifestyle, order, and personal elegance. Designed to transform everyday routines into moments of comfort and sophistication, each dressing space becomes a private environment where beauty, function, and organization come together in perfect harmony.

This catalogue presents a curated collection of luxury dressing systems created for contemporary interiors. Through clean lines, balanced proportions, premium finishes, and intelligent configurations, every model is designed to enhance the way wardrobes are used, experienced, and admired.

Every dressing configuration is thoughtfully developed to adapt to different spaces and lifestyles. Hanging sections, shelves, drawers, display areas, integrated lighting, and modular storage elements are combined to create interiors that feel both elegant and intuitive.

Crafted with attention to detail, these dressing solutions bring together architectural precision and luxurious comfort. The use of warm materials, dark accents, transparent surfaces, and soft illumination creates an atmosphere that is sophisticated, calm, and timeless.

This catalogue is an invitation to discover dressing as an essential part of interior architecture: a space where functionality becomes beauty, organization becomes luxury, and every detail is tailored to create a daily experience of refinement, comfort, and distinction

WOOD COLLECTION

Wood is more than a construction material; it is a living substance that carries the memory of time within its grain, and continues to change long after it has taken its final form.

Each piece begins with the selection of the wood itself, where the direction of the grain, the depth of the tone, and the presence of knots and veining are read and respected rather than corrected.

Shaped somewhere between small-scale production, craftsmanship, and restoration, this is furniture built with patient hands, where noble craft meets an understanding that natural materials are meant to age, to darken, to soften, and to grow more beautiful with use.

This catalogue presents a collection where wood meets other noble materials, marble and ceramic with their density and depth, glass with its lightness and transparency, and metal with its structural precision, combining organic forms with essential lines to create a contrast that is refined and never excessive.

Across tables, seatings, sideboards, bookcases, beds, sofas, armchairs, and decorative complements, each form is drawn from nature and translated into contemporary language, with a wide range of woods, stones, finishes, and upholstery in fabric, nubuck, or leather that allow every piece to be adapted to its space.

Rooted in a tradition of environmental responsibility and reclaimed materials, and entirely made in Italy, it offers something increasingly rare: furniture designed not for a season, but for a lifetime, and beautiful precisely because it is allowed to change.

Lymph Home collection

The amorphous, organic shapes of the Lymph table evoke an image of natural elements and recall a sense of pure fluidity, adding a touch of naturalness to the surrounding environment.

The finishes, with marble, wood and marble, wood, or ceramic top highlight the artistic/decorative aspect of this table, in which the play in styling between the bases and custom top make each version an iconic interpreter of the design house.

Monolith Home collection

The Monolith table is a minimalistic and elegant interpretation of the table, with its sculpted style featuring lines and volumes aligned both parallel and perpendicular to each other. This variation, together with the one combining materials, make each table a unique piece, just like the environment where it is placed.

Manta Home collection

The great expressiveness of the Manta chair combines the linear purity of the wooden base with the visual suspension of the leather- covered seat, turning an everyday object into an essential, sculpted figure that enhances the value of the accompanying table.

Dune Home collection

Designed as a soft, welcoming embrace to retreat to at any time of the day, the Dune modular sofa stands out for its soft, rounded shapes that give it a beautiful, harmonious air inspired by nature itself. The sofa can be customized by combining different types of modules depending on the specific need for comfort and space. The sinuous wooden base lends solidity and warmth, while the cushions can be upholstered in fabric, leather, or nubuck.

Drop Home collection

Essential lines give the Drop end table a timeless elegance, while the amorphous shape of the top adds a touch of dynamics and movement. The base is metal and the structure made of wood, while the top comes in glass, ceramic, or marble. This combination of natural materials and organic shapes creates a fascinating contrast that captures the attention.

Blow Home collection

The visual effect of lightweight movement generated by the lines of the Blow table is heightened by plays of light and shadow that give the table a strong scenic presence perfectly adapted to any type of environment, with its metal finishes and wood, marble or ceramic top.

MARBLE COLLECTION

Marble is more than a noble material; it is a natural expression of elegance, character, and timeless beauty. Through its unique veining, rich tones, and refined textures, it transforms every space into an architectural composition filled with sophistication and distinction.

This catalogue presents a curated selection of marble materials designed to enhance contemporary nteriors, from bright and delicate shades to deep and dramatic colors. From the soft elegance of Calacatta to the bold depth of Nero Marquina, from the warm tone of Emperador to the natural greens of Levanto and Guatemala, each stone carries its own identity and brings a unique atmosphere to every project.

Every marble surface tells a story shaped by nature over time. Its patterns, contrasts, and colors cannot be repeated, making each application unique and exclusive.

The versatility of marble allows it to adapt beautifully to different design styles, from classic and elegant spaces to modern, minimal, and contemporary environments. Its presence enriches both large architectural surfaces and fine decorative details, creating a seamless connection between functionality and artistic expression.

Used for floors, walls, bathrooms, kitchens, countertops, reception desks, and decorative features, marble offers the perfect balance between natural beauty, durability, and prestige. Its surfaces capture the light highlight architectural volumes, and create a harmonious dialogue between material, space, and design.

KITCHEN COLLECTION

Sintered stone is more than a technical surface; it is the meeting point between the beauty of natural materials and the precision of advanced engineering. Shaped from one hundred percent natural raw minerals under extreme pressure and fired beyond 1,200 °C, it is born without resins, without compromise, and without limits of application.

This catalogue presents a complete design universe rather than a single material. Its collections reinterpret the veining of marble, the character of natural stone, the warmth of wood, the texture of metal, the softness of fabric, and the purity of solid colour — with designs running through the entire volume of the slab, so that every edge, every cut, and every profile reveals the same depth as the surface itself.

Available in large-format slabs up to 3200 × 1600 mm and in thicknesses from 3 to 20 mm, with finishes ranging from silk and satin to riverwashed, ultrasoft, and polished, it adapts to every scale of project. All collections share the same technical performance, with no restriction of model, format, or application — the choice is guided by design intention alone.

Non-porous and resistant to scratches, heat, stains, and UV exposure, it preserves its colour and finish indoors and outdoors, from kitchen countertops and bathrooms to floors, wall claddings, furniture, façades, terraces, and swimming pools. Made from natural, recyclable raw materials and produced with renewable energy, it offers something rare: a surface that unites design freedom, lasting performance, and environmental responsibility in a single continuous piece.

DECORATIVE COLLECTION

Microcement is more than a decorative coating; it is the art of continuity a seamless surface that flows across floors, walls, and volumes without a single joint, transforming architecture into one uninterrupted gesture.

Applied in just a few millimetres, this cement-based coating adheres directly to existing surfaces such as tiles, concrete, and plaster, without demolition, rubble, or heavy renovation work, turning what once required weeks of construction into a swift transformation that preserves both time and the integrity of the space.

It offers a complete family of continuous coatings, from rustic and artisanal textures to smooth, silky finishes, from natural stone effects and raw concrete to the depth of lime-based tadelakt and the brilliance of authentic metallic surfaces.

Combined with an open palette of pigments, it allows an infinite range of tones and personalised finishes, where no two applications are ever identical, each one shaped by the hand that creates it.

Beyond its aesthetic freedom, it delivers genuine technical performance: high adhesion on any substrate, resistance to wear, traffic, cracking, chemicals, and water, and protective sealers that extend the life of every surface.

The absence of joints removes the places where dirt and bacteria gather, making it as hygienic as it is easy to maintain. Suited to floors, walls, bathrooms, kitchens, staircases, shower trays, countertops, façades, terraces, and swimming pools, indoors and outdoors alike, it offers the freedom to reshape any space entirely, where texture becomes architecture and the surface itself becomes the design.

LIGHT COLLECTION

Light is more than a functional element, it is a language that shapes spaces, defines moods, and transforms every detail into an experience.

Through a refined collection of illuminated products and lighting solutions, this catalogue presents designs that combine elegance, technology, and practicality for contemporary interiors.

Each piece is created with a balance between pure lines, timeless forms, and carefully selected materials such as metal, glass, wood, marble, and ceramic. The result is a collection that brings together strength and lightness, offering luminous products that are both decorative and functional.

With a focus on efficient lighting systems, product durability, and responsible material use, every design is developed to provide visual comfort, atmospheric luminance, and long-lasting performance.

From subtle ambient lighting to statement pieces, these products are designed to enhance residential, commercial, and hospitality spaces with warmth, character, and sophistication.

This catalogue is an invitation to explore light as a design element:
a way to create harmony, highlight architecture, and bring every space to life.
